THE HERALD SOLD TO FRANK A. MUNSEY

Evening Telegram and Paris Edition of Herald Are Included in Sale.

NEW YORK, January 15.—Frank A. Munsey, magazine and newspaper publisher, has purchased the New York Herald, the New York Evening Telegram and the Paris edition of the Herald. He said today he had no announcement to make concerning his plans for these newspapers until he had an opportunity to study his new property. He declined to disclose the price paid. While the deal was not completed until last night, said, negotiations had been in progress for several weeks.

Announcement of the change was made in today's Herald by Rodman Waukecker and the Guaranty Trust Company as executors of the estate of James Gordon Bennett.

Munsey and Bennett Friends.
The Herald, commenting editorially on the sale, recalls the friendship between Mr. Munsey and the late James Gordon Bennett, and adds:

"The sale of the newspaper to Mr. Munsey is in accord with the spirit of Mr. Bennett's will, his chief desire as therein expressed being that the Herald be continued and developed to be an enduring monument to its great founder."

The Herald was founded by James Gordon Bennett, Sr., and made its first appearance on May 6, 1835. It passed into the hands of James Gordon Bennett, Jr., upon the elder Bennett's death, in 1872. The younger Bennett was in active control of the paper until his death in Paris, in 1918, although during the later years of his life he made his home abroad and directed the enterprise by cable.

Herald Sent Stanley to Africa.
The Herald was perhaps the first newspaper to send reporters great distances to cover news stories, and during the civil war had sixty-three correspondents in the field with the Union armies. Its greatest exploit was under the direction of Stanley, when it sent Henry M. Stanley to Africa to find the explorer David Livingstone. Ranking with this was the outfitting of the Jeannette to the Arctic, and the expedition to the North Pole.

BODIES ARE WASHED UP FROM STEAMER AFRIQUE
Ten Others Found in Lifeboat.

PARIS, January 14 (by the Associated Press).—The tempest in the Bay of Biscay, which caused the sinking of the steamer Afrique, was continuing unabated today, the storm area extending well into the Atlantic.

The Belgian steamer Serbia has been abandoned by her crew and is reported sinking in latitude 47 north and longitude 6 west, toward the northern part of the bay. (N.Y. Herald Tribune.) The Belgian steamer Serbia, a wooden vessel of 1,434 tons net, was meant.

The French cruiser Desaix, which was to sail from Lorient today, was obliged to postpone her departure because of the storm.

It was announced at the offices of the company owning the steamer Afrique that the bodies of twelve persons from the foundered vessel had been washed ashore at Sabies d'Olonne.

The tug Hippopotamus, which has been searching the scene of the Afrique's sinking, sent a wireless today reporting that a vast mass of wreckage and many floating life belts have been found, as well as one life preserver with ten dead persons in it. A number of women were among the dead in the boats that had been found and the other bodies washed ashore.

EVERY RADICAL TO GO, SAYS SECRETARY WILSON
Labor Department Head Defends Policy in Respect to Agitators in United States.

NEWARK, N. J., January 15.—A warning that every alien who advocates the overthrow of the American government by force, or who belongs to an organization holding such views, will be deported "as fast as we can find ships," was issued here today by Secretary of Labor Wilson, in an address in which he defended his department's policy in respect to radical agitators. Mr. Wilson said that 1,000 aliens who were physically and mentally unfit or who believed in the destruction of the government by violence had been deported since the armistice without any particular attention being paid to them by the public, but that the departure of the Buford with 249 anarchists had caused an accusation that men were being deported because of their radical views.

The Secretary of Labor, who addressed the real estate board of Newark at its annual banquet, declared that every one arrested on the thousands of warrants recently issued would be given an absolutely fair hearing and every opportunity to defend themselves.

United States Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin said he was heartily in accord with the department of Labor in its deportation program. Referring to the expulsion of Victor Berger from the House of Representatives, he pointed out that he had been unequaled for a specific act. He continued:

"I cannot see any justification for the ousting of the five socialist members by the New York state legislature simply because they belong to the socialist party. I do not think they will ever find any justification for that act. They will have to look to the socialist party on the part of each man, some evidence of disloyalty to our government."

JOHN DODGE, AUTO MAN, SUCCEUMBS IN NEW YORK

One of Brothers Who Extended Detroit Pay Roll of 12 to 18,000 Workers.

NEW YORK, January 15.—John Dodge of Detroit, automobile manufacturer, died here last night from pneumonia. Mr. Dodge, with his brother Horace, came here to attend the automobile show. They were both stricken with influenza, which in each case developed into pneumonia. Horace Dodge is said by his physicians to be out of danger.

Mr. Dodge died at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, where he has been since his arrival here.

Began in Machine Shop.
DETROIT, Mich., January 15.—The career of John P. Dodge paralleled in many ways that of a majority of Michigan's leading automobile makers. It began in a small machine shop; included many struggles against poverty and failure, and its close found him one of the motor kings of the world, with a fortune estimated at upward of $50,000,000.

Dodge was born in Niles, Mich., fifty-four years ago. After his public school education he served an apprenticeship in his father's machine shop. In 1888 he moved to Detroit to follow his trade. He was shortly afterward joined by his brother, Horace E. Dodge, and for years the brothers worked together as wage-earning machinists. Their first business venture was in 1901, when they opened a shop of their own, employing twelve persons. They built parts for automobile concerns just starting in business. Later they developed an engine which was successful.

In 1912 the brothers announced their intention of entering the automobile business on their own account. The enterprise was successful from the beginning and under the impetus of the war it grew until today the Dodge interests employ approximately 18,000 persons.

One of the Dodge brothers' efforts after the United States entered the war was a $10,000,000 ordnance plant which, despite the skepticism of military experts, produced the delicate mechanism of the French 155-millimeter guns. Machinery for the plant was built in Dodge factories, and within a year after its construction was started it was shipping twenty of the mechanisms daily to the proving grounds.

John Dodge rarely figured in the social life of Detroit. He was regarded as one of the city's most democratic millionaires. He is survived by his widow, a daughter and two sons.

It is said that all the soldiers in the armies of Sweden and Denmark can read and write.

WOULD ABOLISH "DRY" DEPARTMENT IN VIRGINIA

Governor, in Message, Says Prohibition Operatives Arouse Resentment of Other Officers.

RICHMOND, Va., January 15 (by the Associated Press).—Abolition of the state department of prohibition was advocated by Gov. Westmoreland Davis yesterday in his opening message to the legislature. The governor held that Virginia was the only state that maintained a separate prohibition department, the operatives of which, he declared, aroused the resentment of other law officers and disposed them to be lax in the enforcement of the law. The governor added that if the general assembly wished the department continued he would not veto an appropriation for its maintenance of $30,000 a year.

Gov. Davis asked $22,000,000 to pay the expense of operating the state government for the next two years. Included in the appropriations recommended is $1,000,000 increase in the annual appropriation for the public free schools, an average annual increase of 33 per cent.

WILL OUTLINE SCHOOL PLAN. C. I. Corby and Dr. Ramsey to Address Monday Evening Club.

Charles I. Corby, president of the National Capital School Reformers' Council and chairman of the executive committee, and Dr. Arthur Ramsey of the executive committee, will tell members of the Monday Evening Club the plans of the council for a campaign to obtain for the District more teachers, better pay for all school employees, a business management for the schools and a comprehensive school building program at the clubrooms next Monday night. Members of the board of education have been invited to attend the meeting.
